Neptune Sky is a group of four people who got together to create and perform their own compositions. Living and playing on the south coast of England, we are an unsigned band with a wide range of songs from ballads through punk to rock. We love writing and performing our sometimes slightly odd, original material. Have a listen .

2006 was a coming of age for us with writing and developing our set of songs and with the occasion of our first two gigs. Although we were not quite sure if we were ready to go live we played at the Half Brick in Worthing and then a month later at the Dog and Duck in Kingsfold near Horsham.
